ABSTRACT

Technology is currently experiencing very rapid development, especially computer technology, so that it has an impact on increasing effectiveness and efficiency in work. Likewise, information and communication technology, especially the internet, encourages the wider dissemination of information or news and the technology used to convey the public's need for news that is easily accessible and up to date, namely using a news portal website. Currently diskominfotik meranti still uses wordpress as a blog engine for news content. In this application there are 4 users, namely Admin, Journalists, Editors and Users. On this website Admins and Editors can manage news and publish news that has been written by journalists. Journalists can add the news they write. On this website there is a login view, news add view, news manage view. As well as who can log in and who can publish news. With this website, hopefully it can help journalists in writing news that they want to publish.
