This research is a type of qualitative descriptive research. The sample in this study were villages in Bukit Batu District. The results showed that the implementation of direct cash assistance from village funds in Pakning Origin Village and Sungai Selari Village had gone well according to the procedure and was right on target and had been carried out based on the Peramendes PDTT No. In 2020. However, there are several factors that become obstacles in the implementation of direct cash assistance from village funds, namely the limitations experienced by villages including limited budget disbursement, human resources, and infrastructure facilities that support the distribution of village funds for direct cash assistance.*
