10. Mrs. Nur Afni as Mentor and Field Coordinator of practical work who has provided guidance, direction, and support during the implementation of this internship activity.
11. The author also expresses his gratitude to all lecturers and staff of Politeknik Negeri Bengkalis who have played a role in supporting the smooth process of lectures to the implementation of field work practice activities. The guidance, knowledge, and facilities provided are important provisions for the author in undergoing and completing the field work practice period well.
12. To all employees of PT IKPP, especially the Port Operation team, the author expresses his deepest gratitude for the opportunities that have been given in the activities in the Invoice section. The guidance and support provided by the entire team has provided many valuable lessons for the author. Every experience gained during this field work practice period not only improves knowledge and skills, but also enriches the author's perspective on the real world of work.
13. In particular, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my beloved parents, father Kamarul Zaman and mother Sabariah, who have given so many sacrifices, support, prayers, time, energy, and material during my fieldwork activities. Without their love and sincerity, all the processes that the author went through would not have been as easy and calm as this. Their prayers are a source of strength, and their blessings are the key to blessings in every step.
14. My gratitude also goes to my beloved younger siblings, Siti Zulaika and Siti Sabira Jasmine, who have always been a source of happiness and inspiration during the author's field work practice activities. Thank you for your love, support, prayers, and encouragement. Your presence gives its own color and strength in every step the author takes.
15. For my beloved extended family, aunts, uncles, cousins, and all relatives who cannot be mentioned one by one, I would like to express my deepest gratitude for the sincere and never-ending prayers, support, encouragement, and advice. Your presence and attention are a very meaningful source of strength during the author's field work practice period.

16. I would also like to express my gratitude to all my best friends and companions who have always provided encouragement during the field work practice process, although they cannot be mentioned one by one.
17. To my friends at Politeknik Negeri Bengkalis, especially the International Business Administration Study Program, thank you for your togetherness, cooperation, and support. Hopefully this good relationship will continue and become a beautiful memory in the journey of education.
18. The author also expresses his gratitude to friends in arms who underwent field work practices together at PT IKPP. The togetherness, cooperation, and enthusiasm that you showed during the field work practice period was a special motivation for the author. Every challenge and experience passed together has become an important part of this journey.
19. The author expresses his deepest gratitude to himself. Thank you for sticking with it, even though fatigue often comes without permission. Thank you for keeping going, even when the spirit starts to fade and everything feels so heavy. In the midst of pressure, confusion, and the desire to give up, the author chose to keep finishing what had been started. For every tired night, for every tear that fell silently-I am proud to have gotten through it all.
